BEAUTIFUL WHITE GIRL WHO LABORED AMONG CHINESE BRUTALLY

No Longer Any Doubt that Victim Is Elsie Sigel and Letters Written by Girl to Converted Chinaman Throw Light Upon Cause for Crime.

Chink in the Case Has Been Missing for Ten Days -Features of the Gruesome Tragedy—Body of Victim Jammed in Steamer Trunk—Had Been Killed Some Days Ago-Victim Like Her Mother, Has for Years Been a Missionary in the Chinese Slums of Mott Street, New York-Police Fearful that Slaver Has Escaped—Several Arrests Today.

(Special from United Press) New York, June 19.-The main hope of the police in their efforts to unthe mystery surrounding the death of Elsie Sigel, granddaughter of General Franz Sigel, whose bound body was found in a steamer trunk in the room of Leon Ling in a Chinese tenement in Eighth avenue, rests on what they may be able to determine from 'Josey", an American girl who frequented the restaurant on the ground floor of the house. "Josey" is a cocaine fiend and a score of detectives are now seeking her. She is understood to know every woman ever connected with the restaurant.

"Josey's" importance in the case de-veloped at a hearing by Coroner Har-burger this afternoon at which he held ISSUES MESSAGE and friends and sympathizers were at the dock to see him off, and there was great enthusiasm. Just before the boat left, Gompers gave the following measage of farewell to the American people, through the United Press:

"T go to Europe with a heart filled with gratitude toward the whole American people, not only toward the laboring people who have stood by me and the cause, but toward others who have expressed their well wishes for the work and for me personally. I cannot say how much I appreciate this demonstration. Many persons outside the ranks of labor, have sent their best wishes to myself and Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Morrison in the contempt cases and we all feel keenly the interest that is taken in us—not for ourselves—but for what we represent.

"I go to Europe to look into the working problem there. I shall look into their conditions of life and labor, and find out what they are doing to better both these factors in their happiness. I hope to learn many lessons and hope to carry a measage across the sea to our brothers, that may do them some good.

"I think that the trip will result in a better understanding between the workingmen of the nations and serve to bring them in closer understanding with the employers. I want to say that I can be a more useful citizen when I return."

Gompers has been in the city about a week at the Hotel Victoria, and was

been there. I know about Esse's getting fond of some of the Chinamen with whom she came in contact at the mission. I warned her that some day her acquaintanceship with them would get her into serious trouble."

Dr. O'Hanlon, who performed the autopsy, reported this afternoon to Coroner Acritelii that he had found traces of poison in the internal organs of the body and the organs were sealed at once and sent to Professor J. A. Ferguson of Columbia University in order to ascertain whether the poison had anything to do with death. The Is Not Recognized day found letters written by the girl to the converted Chinaman. Leon Ling. which they claim establish a motive for the killing of the girl. The letters extend over a period of two years and the last, written from the home of her pagents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sigel, No. 29 Wadsworth street, reads:

"You seem to be growing cold to me. Just think of the sacrifice I have made for you—my family, my friends. For God's sake don't forsake me now."

The leaving behind of these letters has convinced the police that Leon Ling left the place in great haste. A general alarm for him and Chung Sin, another Christianized Chinaman who with Ling has been missing from the house since last Sunday, was sent out to-day. Foreign ports have been especially notified to look for the pair From the evidence now in the hands of the police it is indicated that Miss Sigel was greatly interested in Leon Ling and Chung Sin shortly after her entrance into settlement work among the Chinese quarter.

The police have also found that Leon Ling, and another Chinaman, known as Yung Ring, were very bifter over some boys all carried white bouquets, while the girls wore wreaths and veils. They formed in procession at the convent and marched to the church, occupying seats in the center aisle, Prof. Brise-bois presided at the organ, rendering a bols presided at the organ, rendering a number of appropriate hymns. "Holy God We Praise Thy Name" was sung in unison by the large class.

Rev. Charles J. McElroy, rector of the church, read the mass, and addressed the children at the close, as to the importance of the sacrament which they had just received. The children have been under instruction for this event for a number of weeks, being under the charge of the Sisters Ling, and another Chinaman, known as Yung Bing, were very bitter over some American girl. The romance between the white gm and the Chinaman was probably the cause of the murder."

Members of the Sigel family said to-day that the girl had probably met Leon at Fort George, where Eisle's brother says the Chinaman ran a chop suey restaurant. A detailed examination of the letters found in the Chinaman's room show that Leon was a "Don Juan" among Celestials. There were in all about 2,000 letters all written by American girls in various parts of the country. This city, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago and small cities of the western and eastern states.

The letters were love letters. Numerous among them were missives signed "Neille" and "Elsie." Both of these names were appended to letters in the same handwriting. The police conclude that these are the letters of the murdered girl. Detectives at work on the case are astounded by the revelations in the letters of white women willing to forego race and reputation for this Chinese Lothario. They declare Leon used the "Missionary game" as his countrymen express it, to cloak his real occupation which they say was the seduction of white women. Ferguson of Columbia University in sorder to ascertain whether the poison had anything to do with death. The brain was a mass of liquid putrefication and all the internal organs in the same shape, according to the doctor's report. Death was due to "asphyxia," said the doctor, probably caused by some one holding the girl by the throat until she dropped dead.

It would have been impossible for anyone in the next room to have detected the odor of decayed flesh. Acting the restaurant keeper for having knowledge of the crime.

The coroner in the course of his investigation today discovered that the body of the girl as it was packed in the trunk had been thoroughly covered with some chemical, probably bichlorifed of like, which had eaten away the flesh in places. This was the reason given for the difficulty experienced in immediately identifying the girl.

Mark Twain, less well known as Samuel Clemens, is the plaintiff in a suit for $1,000 damages instituted against Mrs. Ralph W. Ashcroft, nee Miss Isabel V. Lyon, formerly his social secretary. The suit is brought through the law firm of Canfield, Judson & Pullman of this city. Mrs. Ashcroft is now in Europe with her husband and the attachment was placed upon the house and farm owned by the defendant adjoining Mark Twain's place in Redding. The writ says that Mrs. Ashcroft borrowed $3,000 from the defendant who asks for $4,00 damages The place attached by Deputy Sheriff Banks to substantiate the claim is a pretty little cottage and about 16 acres of land which is valued at $1,500 upon the tax books of Redding. MARRIAGE ANNULLED BECAUSE SECURED WITHOUT DIVORCE

This Woman's First Husband Was a Felon and She Married a Second Believing It Was Her Right.

Judge Lucien F. Burpee, in the Superior Court; civil side, today filed a decision annulling the marriage of Flora Keleher of Ridgefield to William Cole, also of Ridgefield. The court gives the custody of the four children of the couple to their mother. The decision was given on the ground that the plaintiff was a married woman, who had not obtained a divorce at the time of the second marriage. It was August 7, 1897, that Flora Mead, the plaintiff, married Timon J. Keleher in North Salem, N. Y. During the same year Keleher was arrested in New York state on the charge of murder and committed to Sing Sing for 14 years, the jury bringing in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. On Oct. 15, 1899, Mrs. Veleher believing that the incaring in a verdict of manslaughter in the second degree. On Oct. 15, 1899, Mrs. Keleher, believing that the incarceration of her husband entitled her to a remarriage, married William F. Cole in Danbury. They have four children, three of whom are in the county home.
